Sub: Allotment of Trader Identification Number (TIN)

Sir,

You are aware that from 01.04.2005, the existing Delhi Sales Tax Act will be replaced by Delhi Value Added Tax (DVAT). To have uniform and standard Registration Number Format at all India level, government has decided to introduce Trader Identification Number (TIN) in the following format as described below:

State Code		Check Digit		7 digits sequence number
0	7	0	0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7

- The Left most 2 digits represent State Code, which is "07" for Delhi.
- The next two digits are Check Digits.
- The right most seven digit is the Sequential Number.
- The combination of 11 digits comprises the TIN .

Accordingly, the TIN

07680181294

have been allotted to you in lieu of existing RC Number

LC/002/07680181294/1294

however, your ward remains the same.

You are advised to write or quote this 11 digit TIN in Tax Challans and all future correspondences with the department. For proper accounting of your tax deposits and other related issues, it is necessary that the newly allotted TIN is used cautiously and correctly.
